

Hillbilly Vegas

BAND STORY

This band is a rare combination of Red Dirt, Country, and Southern Rock. Their wide genre of music is why they continue to play to sold-out venues. The band has a unique sound that appeals to audiences young and old alike. They've played from the humblest of locations on flatbeds at 4th of July picnics to the swankiest of honky tonks. They've also made quite a name for themselves at the wildest rallies. The band also enjoys showcasing their acoustic abilities at coffee houses and small venues. With all that being said, they have no problem bringing down the house in front of thousands as a support act for some of today's biggest names in country music. The band also knows that with their God-given talent their need to give back. Steve Harris, lead singer, states, "We feel a particular need to show our support for the troops. That's why we have entertained troops and played welcome home events as our way of saying, 'thank you'." They have also hosted and organized fundraising shows for people they hold near and dear to their hearts. When you hear this band and all their talent, you won't be disappointed. The band is working on releasing their first album, but in the meantime you can enjoy their singles that are being played on regional radio stations, satellite radio, and you can download them at iTunes. Sit back and enjoy our website, sample our sounds, and most of all put a little Hillbilly in your life and join our fan club to be the first to get updates on upcoming shows, new releases, and merchandise.
